4.1 GUARANTEE, LIABILITY FOR DEFECTS

(Extract from the general conditions)

- 4.1.1 The guarantee period is 12 months, or 6 months in case of 24-hour operation, it starts when the supplies leave the works. If dispatch is delayed due to reasons beyond supplier's control, the guarantee period shall end not later than 18 months after supplier's notification that the supplies are ready for dispatch.
For replaced or repaired parts or for upgrading, the guarantee period starts a new and lasts 6 months after replacement or completion of the repair, but not longer than the expiry of a period being double the guarantee period stipulated in the preceding paragraph.
The guarantee expires prematurely if the customer or a third party undertakes inappropriate modifications or repairs or if the customer, in case of defect, does not immediately take appropriate steps to mitigate the damage and give the supplier the possibility of remedying such defect.
- 4.1.2 Upon written request of the customer, the supplier undertake at its choice to repair or replace as quickly as possible any parts of the supplies which, before the expiry of the guarantee period, are proved to be defective due to bad material, faulty design or poor workmanship. Replaced parts shall become supplier's property.
- 4.1.3 Express warranties are only those which have been expressly specified as such in the order acknowledgement or in the specifications. An express warranty is valid until the expiry of the guarantee period at the latest.
If the express warranties are not only partially achieved, the customer may first of all require the supplier to carry out the improvements immediately. The customer shall give the supplier the necessary time and possibility of doing so.
If such improvements fail completely or in part, the customer may claim a reasonable reduction of price. If however, the defects are of such importance that they cannot be remedied within a reasonable time and provided the suppliers and services cannot be used for their specified purpose, or if such use is considerably impaired, then the customer shall be entitled to refuse acceptance of the defective part or, if partial acceptance is economically not justified for it, to terminate the contract. In such case the supplier can only be held liable for reimbursing the sums which have been paid to it for parts affected by the termination.
- 4.1.4 Excluded from supplier's guarantee and liability for defects are all deficiencies which cannot be proved to have their origin in bad material, faulty design or poor workmanship, e.g. those resulting from normal wear, improper maintenance, failure to observe the operating instructions, excessive loading, use of any unsuitable material, influence of chemical or electrolytic action, building or erection work not undertaken by the supplier, or resulting from other reasons beyond supplier's control.
MEI shall not be liable for consequential, special or incidental damages or damage resulting from electrical overload, negligence, accidents, acts of God, and/or Vandalism including attempts to fraud or cheat any product.
- 4.1.5 With respect to any defective material, design or workmanship as well as to any failure fulfil express warranties, the customer shall not be entitled to any rights and claims other than those expressly stipulated in Clauses 4.1.1 and 4.1.4.
